

I love having traffic and weather on XM. This is just the same as having weather and traffic on satellite or cable tv, or searching for it online, just through a different medium. I see no reason for conflict with this when there is no issue with receiving this information elsewhere through subscription.